AUTION .- We beg leave to caution sers of our choice OLD MONONGAHELA
WHISKIES against the deception and petty fraud which is practiced by certain parties in this city and in Baltimore, who have appropriated to themselves exact copies of the Star Brands, long exed and designed by us to distinguish our Old Whiskeys. We can assure our friends and customers, that the unrivalled quality, everywhere acknowledged, of our choice OLD WHISKIES, cannot be equalled by these ingenious invaders of our rights,
Our new establishment, Gibsonton Mills, of the Monongahela River, gives us unequalled facilities for making Whiskey of the choicest kind, from malted and kiln-dried grain. Purchasers of our Old Whiskies will please to notice, the words GIBSONTON MILLS and JOHN GIBson, Sons & Co., are inserted in the new Brands which we now adopt; and we deem it a duty to our customers and ourselves, to give notice, that we will prosecute and expose any person or persons who may hereafter copy or use our Brands.

MISCELLANEOUS READING. A WORD TO THE WISE.

Love hailed a little maid, Romping through the meadow; Heedless in the sun she played,

Scornful of the shadow.
"Come with me," whispered he, "Listen sweet, to love and reason."
"By and by," she mocked reply; "Love's not in season."

Years went, years came; Light mixed with shadow; Love met the maid again, Dreaming through the meadow.
"Not so coy," urged the boy: "List in time to love and reason,"

"By and by," she mused reply;
"Love's still in season." Years went, years came; Light changed the shadow; Love saw the maid again, Waiting in the meadow. "Pass no more; my dream is o'er; I can listen now to reason.

"Keep thee coy," mocked the boy,
"Love's out of season."

CHESS PLAYING. The New York Courier does not agree with those religious journals which have been arguing that Chess playing is a waste of time. It says:

"Of course Chess, like every other good thing, may be abused: but nevertheless it is, and we believe ever will be, the very prince of sedentary games. There is no game like it for disciplining the minds of young men. We sometimes think that some kind divinity specially invented it for that purpose, as Ceres gave corn, and Minerva the olive.— First, it is a powerful exercise for the mind. Indeed Lord Bacon censured it as 'too wise a game.' It calls out every faculty of the mind, just as gymnastics exert every muscle of the body. It demands concentration, thus, strengthening the power of abstraction from surrounding objects. It requires foresight, for in fact success in it wholly lies in directing your own moves towards a definite object, and at the same time, penetrating the intentions of your advesary. It imposes vigilance; the slightest oversight oft-times proves your ruin. It inculcates patience; restlessness is an unpardonable sin in the morals of Chess. It evokes the power of rapid and long-sighted combination; to a perfect mastery of the difficult art of selecting and occupying a commanding position, the successful Chess-player must add a thorough knowledge of all the many and complicated varieties of statagems and snares, which he is alternately called upon to invent and put into practice-to see through and Certificates of Packages will be sold at the fol- defeat. In fact, it would be hard to name a faculty or quality which a man needs for practical success in life, that is not genially cherished by this noble game. So highly did the distinguished barrister, Samuel Warren, think of it as an exercise for those who are training for legal honors, that he specifically recommends it in his "Introduction to the Study of the Law." And yet it is none the less a recreation. Even well-worked minds find in it a positive refreshment. The poet Cowper directed a passage of his charming poetry against Chess. He asks-Who then, that has a mind well-strung and tuned To contemplation, * * Would waste attention at the chequered board,

His host of wooden warriors to and fro Marching and countermarching, etc., etc. It is our opinion that a good stiff game of Chess every morning would have been a thousand times better for his mind's health than the morbid fancies and fears he was accumstomed to let it feed on. But after all it is only to the young mind, yet in the way of education, that we would particularly recommend Chess. Men engaged in the stirring duties of life, may do comfortably without recreation; but young people will

THE attention of Planters of Virginia, is called to this valuable manure, which has been thoroughly tested for the past six years on every description of crop. This preparation supplies valuable soluble phosphoric acid, the indispensable nutriment of plants, RHODES Super Phosphate of Lime is a chemi-

It possesses virtues specifically its own, not borrowed from other natural products, nor imitable by them, and is hence destined to form an indispensable assistant in modern agriculture.

The Model Farm, at Petersburg, (Virginia,) has, through all its various administrations, (first the lamented Nicol, next Mr. Turnbull, and now the present superintendent, Mr. Harris,) endorsed this manure as one of great value, and especially adap-

cal compound, entirely different from the character

f the raw materials which are used in preparation.

"The Southern Farmer," at Petersburg, in their issue of November 27th, notes the best sample of tobacco at the Virginia State Society's Exhibition last fall was grown by Dr. J. W. Hunt, of Nottoway county, with the application of Rhodes' Super Phosphate.

The South Carolina Agricultural Society, at their annual Fair, held at Columbia 9th, 10th, 11th, and 12th November, 1858, through their Committee on Chemicals, Minerals, &c., reported;
"The committee would call the attention of the society to Rhodes' Super Phosphate of Lime. Ex-perionee has proved it to be a valuable fertilizer—said to be superior to Guano." "Your committee beg leave to say that they have discharged the duty assigned them fearlessly, faithfully, and to the best of their ability.

"JOHN H. MAXWELL, "Ww. F. PRATT."
The Richmond "Enquirer," of December 2d, in noticing this Manure in an editorial of considerable ength, says: "We regard the subject of fertilizers to important to our farmers and planters that we do not intend to allow ourselves to be betrayed into a carcless expression of opinion, and hence we have examined his (Rhodes') claim with care. We heartily recommend this fertilizer. It has been used upon Tobacco, Wheat, Corn, and other Grains, and Vegetables, with like good results, and differing from Guano in leaving the land in better heart." We could enumerate proof after proof of this valnable Manure, but will refer for particulars to our Pamphlet, which can be had by addressing us or our several Agents, (who will furnish Rhodes' Su per Phosphate at our prices, with the simple addi-
